

International

Curious about the global aspects of ethics and how OGE and other agencies are involved? Look at the International section and read about the anticorruption activities currently taking place. At the request of the foreign policy-making agencies of the Federal Government, OGE has taken a proactive role in aiding foreign governments in this critical anticorruption area.

The OGE Web Site!

<http://www.usoge.gov>

The U.S. Office of Government Ethics (OGE) welcomes you to its on-line resource center for ethics information. Members of the executive branch ethics community and the public are encouraged to log onto our Web site and click on the sections below for valuable information covering a variety of ethics topics. We hope that your visit to the OGE Web site is an educational and productive experience.

What's New!

- Do you want to keep yourself current on all the latest developments in the executive branch ethics program? Then bookmark the What's New! section on your browser. Here you can find information about legislation, litigation, upcoming training sessions offered to agency ethics practitioners, recent DAEOgrams*, and various Government Ethics Newsgram items.

* DAEOgrams - Executive branch ethics program policy/guidance memoranda.

 Newsgram - an OGE news and information publication produced three times a year for the executive branch.

About OGE

- Have you wondered what OGE is all about? Then click on About OGE. This section outlines OGE's background and mission, explains its organization and functions and describes the ethics community component of the executive branch ethics program. In addition, agencies can get ideas to improve the effectiveness of their programs by looking at the Agency Best Practices section, which describes successful program practices currently used by ethics officials throughout the executive branch.

Laws & Regulations

- Are you doing ethics research but don't want to walk to your law library? This section provides the complete text of applicable Executive orders, Federal Register issuances, statutes and regulations related to the executive branch ethics program.

Advisory Opinions

- Trying to interpret or comply with rules and regulations on various ethics issues? Then you have come to the right section. It contains issuances of OGE's informal advisory letters and memoranda and formal opinions on how to interpret and comply with conflict of interest, post-employment, Standards of Ethical Conduct, and financial disclosure requirements in the executive branch.

DAEOgrams

- Are you looking for guidance on or an interpretation of a specific ethics statute or regulatory provision? This section contains all of the OGE policy/guidance memoranda (DAEOgrams) issued since 1992.

Training Workshops & Seminars

- Are you an executive branch ethics official who is interested in attending an OGE ethics course or seminar? Then the Training Workshops & Seminars section is definitely for you. It offers information on various ethics training workshops and seminars being conducted in the Washington, DC area and other Federal regions around the country.

Videos & CD-ROM

- Looking to add spice to your training? Want to use visual aids? OGE offers training videos and The Ethics CD-ROM to assist executive branch departments and agencies in the administration of agency ethics programs. For other training options, click on the Computer & Web-based Training section.

OGE Conference

- Everything you need to know about the annual Government Ethics Conference can be found in this section. Information on the location, registration, and conference program are available, as well as some of the materials provided at previous conferences.

Computer & Web-based Training

- Looking for ideas on what to use to conduct annual employee ethics training? Then this section is for you! It contains a list of computer and web-based training resources developed by OGE as well as links to other Federal Government agency computer and web-based ethics training resources. For other options, click on the Videos & CD-ROM section.

Forms, Publications & Other Ethics Documents

- Need copies of OGE materials, e.g. the SF 278, the OGE Form 450, the Standards of Ethical Conduct, or the "Gifts Between Employees" pamphlet? You've found the right section! In this section, users are able to view and/or download the items listed above in addition to many other OGE forms and publications.
